Executive bio

Cheryl joined Bentall in 2000 to lead the property management services team in Eastern Canada. As a member of the senior management team, today she directs Bentall's National Real Estate Services (NRES) department which provides strategic support to the corporation's real estate services in Canada and the United States. NRES is responsible for corporate and operational sustainability initiatives; risk management; environmental programs and policies; property management best practices; and national contracting.

She has over 30 years of real estate experience with major Canadian real estate firms in office, industrial, retail and residential portfolios. She holds a Certified Property Manager designation; is a past member of the BOMA Canada National Advisory Council; a past National and Toronto Chapter Board member of the Real Estate Institute of Canada; past chair of the Institute of Real Estate Management (IREM) Canada Council, past Secretary Treasurer of the Board of BOMA Canada and currently serves as a member of the International Management Board of IREM and chair of the Industry Pandemic Task Force of BOMA Canada.

Cheryl is also a 3rd year student at the University of Waterloo working towards a Bachelor of Arts, majoring in Economics. In 2007 she was awarded the BOMA Toronto President's award for contributions to the local association. Later in 2007, the BOMA Canada Chairman's award was given to Cheryl in recognition of her role in the developing the national Pandemic Planning Guide and her involvement with national and international activities in Canada and the US.
